

Rumple Scott

June 26, 2026

Rumple was the very best friend we could have had. He was there before we got married or had our son. He's our first baby.

He was always in the window when we pulled up at home, waiting to give dad head bonks. He'd bring us his favorite soccer balls every morning and night.

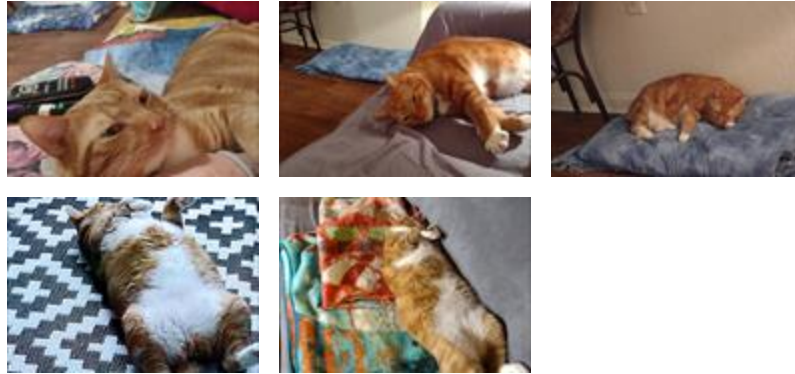

He loved going outside and laying in the grass, and even though he thought he could tough the outside world he would have been lost without his food on demand or comfy spots to sleep. He was the best thunder buddy when it was storming.

We miss him so much and feel as if there is a 20 pound cat shaped hole in our hearts. We love you forever Rumple.
